

Talented Students at Balby

Definition

Talented pupils are defined as those with practical abilities 'significantly above average' in the arts, sport, personal, interpersonal, vocational and entrepreneurial areas as well as academic subjects. This student is one with the potential to develop skills to a level significantly ahead of their year group, or one who already exhibits skills developed beyond those of their year group. They may not be 'Academically More Able' but they may be talented in a specific area.

If you believe that your child has a particular gift in a subject area or a talent that needs to be shared, please let us know!
